Although many of the locations in the film are American, Sean Connery never set foot in America during filming.

All scenes where he's apparently in America were shot at Pinewood Studios, London.
Trivia

The producers had to pay for the Aston Martin, but after the success of the film, both at the box office and for the company, they never had to spend money on a car again.
Goldfinger wears yellow or a golden item of clothing in virtually every scene.

In the one that he appears not to - in which he wears a US Army Major General's uniform - he carries a golden revolver.
